Proton Motor Power Systems plc (AIM: PPS), Europe's leading designer, developer and producer of fuel cells and electric hybrid systems with a zero-carbon footprint, is pleased to announce that following the recent extension of the co-operation agreement with DB Bahnbau Gruppe GmbH ("DB Bahnbau"), which was first announced on 20 July 2015, it has:

- received an order from DB Bahnbau for a PM Frame fuel cell system (Proton Motor's modular fuel cell system for customised integration); and
- entered into a maintenance services contract for 22 systems, which were delivered in 2016, with DB Bahnbau acting as general contractor.

DB Bahnbau is a subsidiary of Deutsche Bahn AG (the German railway company, headquartered in Berlin) and is a full-service provider for rail infrastructure.

The Board estimate the market potential for Emergency Power Systems (EPS) to be delivered in co-operation with DB Bahnbau to be up to 1,800 sites with power requirement levels of between 10kW and 500kW.
